Geological theorists assert that the inequalities on the earth's surface arise from uplifting of volcances, earthquakes, etc., and to these they ascribe the inclination of strata, etc. But the minute seams in sandst formation indicate that the whole is the effect of depositions and precipitations, while in the submersions by the sea, and the advance and refreat during perihelion periods, we have the aqueous agency required for the

These ladies have signified their intention to be present at the Parlia-ment and take part in it. Mrs. Pierce the principle of bee building applied will preside at the preliminary meet- to human architecture. The subjects for discussion are assigned to different distinguished wo men, who will read papers on thes topies. The Parliament is not an open convention where any one is at liber ence. It is no more than a parlor conversazione, where a few well-informed women of position and polite culture will discuss the best methods of treating young children, of economical housekeeping and hospital affairs—things which most intimately belong to woman's sphere.

The ideas of Sorosis on politics were expressed at the last meeting by the President, who declared, without as serting or denying the right of women to vote, that they were not ready by education or business habits to work with men, that they have enough at with little disposition to sell at thes present to do to fit themelves for the position which nobedy questions is their Sorosis is neither a set of peliticians in petticonts, nor of termagants in ong trains. The society earnestly desires that people shall keep its name distinct from any political or fashion-able ambition. It is neither a Chib of fast women nor an electioneering cancus. It is so anxious to preserve a reputation for discretion and womanly decorum in all things that it will not hesitate to discard any disturbing element with promptness, no matter Bonds of hest what it may lose in talent by doing so. It regrets that its record should be misinterpreted. To make womants woman is the highest aim of Sorosis

Who Owns Him?

I heard a capital story with regard to the control obtained over the revenue officers-storekeepers, I believe by the distillers in whose establishment they are placed. The story comes to me from one who knows, and is an apt illustration of the recent "penny wise and pound foolish" pell-cy which has cut down the pay of assistant assessors and other officials. A supervisor recently removed one of Michigan Central. these officers from one distillery to another. Perhaps he suspected col-lusion, but if so, said nothing. Hexagonal Buildings.

A correspondent of the American Artizan says: I have had the pleasure of looking over some drawings, executed for the purpose of showing how the principle of beebuilding may be applied to human architecture. It is really a very beautiful and origi-nal idea, yet, on reflection, the only wonder is that it has never been thought of before. It has been known for many years, to geometricians and apiarians, that bees construct the cells of their honeycombs of the largest size and greatest strength possible, in proportion to the quantity of material em-ptoged in building. "Maraldi deter-mined, hy minutely measuring the angles of a bee-cell, that the greater angles were 109° 28°, and the smaller 70° 32°; and M. How much more it will decrine is hard to tell. It has already de-clined forty to fifty dollars off each bale; but that is not enough, perhaps, to satisfy speculators.

will the farmers force their cotton of the market, and submit to such imposi-tion? I hope not. I would advise them to make a strike, and continue the strike until they can obtain such prices as the scarcity and demand will justify. I believe the farmers of the South are now is a condition to hold, if necessary, at leas half, and perhaps two-thirds of the pres ent cotton crop. And they will certain do so if they consult their own interes onless they can obtain such prices as wi be a fair remuneration for the sacrifice they have made in raising it. If th farmers will adopt some concert of action this principle, Mr. Bontwell may signly to accommodate his friends; and control of the control of t gon to accommodate his friends; and cot ton speculators in this country and Eu rope may combine to affect the price o cotton, but all their schemes will result in a splendid failure, and the farmers be enabled to obtain fair and legitimate
